

ANTS

Ants insects. They have legs and two antennae. Ants live in called colonies.

Many ants make their underground but some make their nests in Ants have different jobs do. The queen ant lays the The eggs into larvae. Larvae grow into ants.

The female ants are the worker ants. They the nest and protect the colony. They also collect and help look after the larvae.

The male ants have wings and can They do not live for very Ants eat other insects, plants and animals. Some ants leave a trail of scent so that the other ants can the food.

Some ants use their big jaws to catch animals. Then they use their stingers to the animal.

An ant can carry a piece of food that is times heavier than themselves. There are thousands of different types of ants in the