

Bilivucu

Bilivucu had become a very keen Christian and he wanted everyone else in his village to become Christians.

“You really should follow the Christian way, my friend,” he would say to people. “My life has changed such a lot since I believed in Jehovah God. Won’t you become a Christian, too?”

There was one man in the village who grew tired of Bilivucu constantly talking to him about being a Christian. One day, he got so angry that he grabbed the nearest thing he could find. It happened to be a cooking pot. He smashed it over Bilivucu’s head, sending him home with a very bad headache.

Bilivucu sat in his house wondering what he should do.

“I try to tell this man good news, and all he does is hit me over the head with a cooking pot,” he said to himself. “It wouldn’t be so bad if he hit me with a club. At least that’s a man’s thing. But to hit me with a cooking pot! That’s a woman’s thing. You shouldn’t hit a man with a woman’s thing.”

Test score

Number of words: 182

Words correct:

Accuracy rate: %

(1 error = 99%; 2 errors = 99%; 3 errors = 98%; 4 errors = 98%; 5 errors = 97%; 6 errors = 97%; 7 errors = 96%; 8 errors = 95%; 9 errors = 95%; 10 errors = 94%; 11 errors = 94%; 12 errors = 93%; 13 errors = 92%); 14 errors = 92%)

Comprehension:

1. Why did the man in the village hit Bilivucu over the head with a cooking pot?
2. How did Bilivucu feel after he was hit on the head?
3. Why was Bilivucu upset that he had been hit with a cooking pot?

Comprehension score: $\frac{\quad}{3}$