

Questions to guide unit construction for secondary units

1. What is God's intention for the particular area of creation that is being studied in this unit?
2. What is a Christian perspective on this unit of study?
3. How is God's character or nature expressed in this topic?
4. What would be our response to understanding these aspects of God's character or nature? e.g. God is truth – our response is to speak and act truthfully.
5. Which scripture passages support this?
6. If this unit is mostly skill laden, what real life examples and framework can be put around the skills to promote a Christian worldview?
7. What ethic directs the expression of the skill?
8. How has God's purpose, related to this unit of study, been affected and distorted by sin? These may be reflected in idolatry, alienation, suffering and the outworking of God's judgment.
9. What are the avenues by which Christians may respond to these areas affected by sin to bring about healing and reconciliation?
10. Are there ways in which our students can respond now so as to promote the Kingdom of God in these situations?
