

37. Mongrel Dog

A feral street dog, of mongrel pedigree, forages in an alley way. Suddenly a light scampers over the bins and shadows dart about. The dog cringes into a defensive position and grows aggressively. But there is no threat. She has been frightened by moonlight suddenly emerging from behind night clouds.

There are times in your school year when you are a conduit of heaven's light. The aggressive and disappointing reaction you sometimes get is not always a demonic response. It can be the heart of flesh of student and adults, responding in reflex, to the divine workings around you. This more overt manifestation of The Teacher is cause for delight. You will withstand the pressure that comes at you for being a catalyst to this release. You recall that the strong and valuable timber comes from trees that grow in localities most exposed to the buffeting of strong winds.

John 1: 6-9 God sent a person to tell about the light so that everyone might believe. He himself was not the light; he was simply a witness to tell about the light. The one who is the true light, who gives light to everyone, was coming in to the world.
